

Thank you very much.

Our next Christmas song was written in 1950, and it's a bit unusual because it describes the Christmas scene in a city rather than in a rural setting. It was first performed by Bob Hope and Marilyn Maxwell in the movie, the "Lemon Drop Kid." The first recorded version was in that same year by Bing Crosby and Carol Richards. The song was inspired by the imagery of Salvation Army bellringers standing outside department stores during the Christmas season.

Here we go with "Silver Bells."
