Good evening. We're so very glad to be back with you again. It's always a fun time for us when we come to play for you here.

Once again tonight, we're going take you down memory lane and revisit some of the biggest hit songs from yesteryear. Our opening number was "It's A Good Day" And it really is a good day, isn't it? The song was written back in 1947 and recorded by many artists.

Our next selection was written back in 1941 and recorded by the Four Aces that year. Remember the Four Aces? Later, Eddie Fisher also had a recording that hit the Top Ten in the charts.

Here's our version of a question - "Tell Me Why."

Our next selection was written a ways back - in fact, way back in 1899. It's a Tin Pan Alley song about a man who has a girlfriend that he only knows through the telephone. Today, we have the same thing when people meet each other on the Internet.

You'll remember the song. It's called "Hello, My Baby." _____ and I will engage in this conversation.

Our next selection is a Latin selection recorded by the great Artie Shaw back in 1940. It was 13 weeks as the #1 song on Billboard's pop chart and was inducted into the Grammy Hall of Fame in 1982. Among those who recorded it were Natalie Cole, Bing Crosby, The Four Freshman, Glenn Miller, Frank Sinatra, and dozens of others.

So, here's _____ to sing our version of the great song whose title is Spanish for "frenzy." It's called "Frenesi." Don't get too much in a frenzy as you sing it, _____.

Now, We'll jump forward in time, all the way to 1921, and play a song that was composed in response to the popularity of the Rudolph Valentino film "The Sheik."

It was a Tin Pan Alley hit and became a part of the repertoire of all of the jazz bands at that time.

Now, we're going to bring you way forward in time to 1986 and an animated feature by Don Bluth entitled "An American Tail." The song describes the bond between a brother and a sister and their hope of being able to see one another again after being separated.

It was recorded by Linda Ronstedt and James Ingram and won the Grammy Award in 1988 for best song of the year. Here is the beautiful "Somewhere Out There." _____ will join me in singing it.

Thank you. Each time we play for you, we like to showcase a noted artist of yesteryear. This time, we're going to highlight some songs by an artist who recorded 17 gold record albums and 3 platinum record albums during the course of his lifetime. He was born in 1927 and passed away recently in 2012. Any ideas? OK. Here's another clue - for the last many years, he had his own theatre in Branson, Missouri, called the Moon River Theatre. Now, do you know? OK. Final clue - He had his own TV show from 1962 - 1971 and always had a great special show every Christmas. You got it! Howard Andrew Williams, known to all as Andy Williams.

This evening, to honor Andy, we're going to play three of his greatest hits. The first is from an album of the same name released in the year 1966. The song was the theme song of the movie, "The Sandpiper," which starred Richard Burton and Elizabeth Taylor.

Here we go with the beautiful ballad - "The Shadow Of Your Smile."

Our next Andy Williams hit was from an album of the same name released in 1966. It won the Academy Award that year as best original song. It also stayed on the Billboard Charts for 79 weeks! Wow!

You may remember the song also from the real-life film of the same name about Elsa, the Lioness.

Here we go with this great Andy Williams hit - "Born Free."

Thank you.

Well, we've certainly had a great time playing for you this evening. Have you enjoyed yourselves?

We're going to close with one of the great hits from the year 1942. The song was a big hit for the great Glenn Miller orchestra in that year. It's about a girl who lives in a city in the great state of Michigan. Anyone have a guess as to it's title? You got it!

Here we go with our closing number - "I Got A Gal In Kalamazoo."
