

Thank you very much.

Well, our time together is now at an end. Did you all have a good time in our Halloween celebration?" (Response).

Before we perform our final selection, we'd like to invite you to consider taking home a souvenir of our evening together. (Sell CDs).

OK. For our final song, we'll pick up the pace with this Halloween favorite written back in 1958 about a creature who came to earth in order to join a rock 'n roll band. He has a strange diet, however. His favorite dish is "purple people," so if you fit into that category, you'd better beware.

Here's _____ to tell us all about this creature. Take it away,
