

Thank you. Thank you very much.

We'll pick up the tempo now with a classic song from the Roaring Twenties, written back in 1922. It has become associated with the age and image of the flapper during that time period. It was first recorded by Al Jolson and further popularized by Eddie Cantor.

Here we go with our version of the classic - "Toot Toot Tootsie."