

Thank you very much.

We'll go back to 1932 now for a song recorded by Bing Crosby, and which later was a big hit for such artists as Cab Calloway, Duke Ellington, Ella Fitzgerald, Etta James, and a whole host of others.

Here's our version of this song with some Halloween-style implications. It's title: "I Don't Stand A Ghost Of A Chance With You."