

Thank you very much.

We're going to slow things down a bit with this next selection. It was written back in 1930 and became a jazz standard. The most famous recording was by a tenor saxophonist by the name of Coleman Hawkins. Does anyone remember him? This song was one of the first jazz records to become a commercial hit.

Here's our version of "Body And Soul."