

Thank you very much.

Toward the end of World War II, band leader Moe Jaffe took an old English folksong and wrote a tune which described the type of apparel worn by sailors - bell bottom trousers. The bands of Tony Pastor, Kay Kyser, Guy Lombardo, and Louis Prima soon followed with recordings in 1945 that all made the Billboard charts of great hits.

So, here's our version of this great patriotic tribute to a sailor's uniform - "Bell Bottom Trousers."