

Good evening. Tonight, we're here to celebrate a very important event. We're honoring our special guest, Larry Webb, on the occasion of his 80th birthday. For this grand celebration, we've prepared a special program of his favorite music for your dancing pleasure, and we hope these songs will bring back fond memories of days gone by.

To begin our evening of Larry's favorite songs, here's an up-tempo song that was written way back in 1931. It was first recorded by Belle Baker and since then has been recorded by a whole hosts of artists including Billie Holliday, Louie Armstrong, Ella Fitzgerald, Dean Martin, Frank Sinatra, and even Willie Nelson.

Here's Wendy to sing "All Of Me."
