

Thank you. Thank you very much.

Now, we'll move to the time of World War I and another George M. Cohan favorite. Written in 1917, it became a popular favorite with US soldiers in both Wars I and II. In 1936, President Franklin D. Roosevelt awarded Cohan the Congressional Gold Medal for this and other songs he had composed.

Here we go with the spirited fight song of our troops as they've done battle in far off lands - "Over There!"
