

Thank you. Thank you very much.

Our next Roaring Twenties song was first recorded in 1922 by Leona Williams and here Dixie Band. Bob Wills and his Texas Playboys followed with recordings as did Fats Waller and Ella Fitzgerald. But it trumpeter Clyd McCoy and his wah wah mute who made it his theme song and forever established it as a classic.

Here's our version of this great hit - the "Sugar Blues."