

Thank you.

Our next “blue” song actually has two colors in its title. It’s an old English folk song and nursery rhyme dating to the seventeenth century that has been recorded in various forms since the twentieth century. Burl Ives’s version was nominated for an Academy Award for Best Original Song in 1949.

Anyone have a guess as to the name of a song with both blue and another color in its title? Right - “Lavender Blue.” Here’s our version for you.
