

Thank you.

Our next selection was written a ways back - in fact, way back in 1899. It's a Tin Pan Alley song about a man who has a girlfriend that he only knows through the telephone. Today, we have the same thing when people meet each other on the Internet.

You'll remember the song. It's called "Hello, My Baby." _____ and I will engage in this conversation.