

Thank you. Thank you very much. How was that? Did you enjoy your remembrances of Sammy Davis, Jr.?

For our next selection, we'll go back to the year 1931. Anyone here born in that year? The song is "Heartaches" and the biggest recording of this song was by the Ted Weems Orchestra. Remember that orchestra? The recording featured Elmo Tanner whistling a chorus - remember that?

So, here we go with our version of "Heartaches."
