

Thank you very much.

Our next selection was written by Gene Autry in 1946. The story goes that Gene was riding his horse in the Santa Claus Lane Parade in Los Angeles, and the people kept chanting "Here Comes Santa Claus." So, he decided to write a song with that title, and it soon became very popular.

So, here we go with a song about the big fellow dressed in red who's got all the kids watching for him - "Here Comes Santa Claus."
