

Thank you.

We'll stay in the same time period now with our next song, written in 1930 by Richard Rodgers, and made popular by such artists as Frank Sinatra, Ella Fitzgerald, and Jo Stafford. It's about a creature, or maybe it's a person, who spends his/her time dancing. But, instead of dancing on the floor, this individual is content to be "Dancing On The Ceiling." Weird, eh? Here's _____ to tell us all about this strange apparition.