

Thank you. We'll pick up the tempo with our next song, written in 1966. Frank Sinatra heard it and he and his daughter recorded it in 1967. What was the name of Frank's daughter? Right - Nancy. It's a love song of sorts - I'm sure you'll remember it.

Here we go with "Something Stupid." That's not the way we play - it's the name of the song.