

Thank you very much.

Our evening at the 2016 Olympics is now drawing to a close. Have you had a good time experiencing the music of Latin America?

Great! For our last number, we'll tell the story of what happens when two cultures merge through music. The music was borrowed from an Italian folk song back in 1954, but the rhythm is Latin American - a mambo.

Rosemary Clooney recorded it in 1954. Listen carefully to the words, and you might even learn some Italian expressions. Here we go with a great closing selection - "Mambo Italiano."
