Chubby Checkers 1960 cover of this next song reached number 1 on the Billboard Hot 100 on September 19, 1960 where it stayed for a week. Hank Ballard wrote this song named “The Twist” after seeing teenagers in Tampa, Florida twisting their hips while dancing.

The movements are like you would do if you were drying your back with a towel.

So, everyone get out on the dance floor and get moving for this one! No partner needed! Everyone can do it!

Here we go with that timeless classic, “The Twist”.

Thank you. Did you enjoy our tribute to the Ames Brothers?

For our next selection, we'll play a non-sensical song that was performed way back in 1910 at British music halls by a Cockney comedian named Harry Champion. It became his closing theme song. Then, in 1965, it became the fastest-selling song in history to that point when it was revived by Herman's Hermits, becoming the group's second number-one on the Billboard Hot 100 chart.

If you remember British History, one of a long line of kings was Henry the Eighth. This song is titled, "I'm Henery The Eighth, I Am," but it's about different "Henry, the Eighth" entirely. You'll soon learn the story of this chap!

Enjoy!

Each time we play for you, we like to showcase a noted artist of yesteryear. This time, we're going to highlight some songs by a very famous Jazz trumpet player and singer born on August 4, 1901, in the great city of New Orleans. Who would that be? Right - Louis Daniel Armstrong, otherwise known as "Louie."

Louie died of a heart attack on July 6, 1971. During the 70 years of his life on earth, he became one of the most influential jazz musicians in history.

We're going to play three of his selections this evening. The first was recorded by Louie in 1968, just shortly before his death. The lyrics of the song present a hopeful, optimistic tone with regard to the future, talking about green trees, red roses, blue skies, white clouds, rainbows, and babies being born with a great future ahead of them.

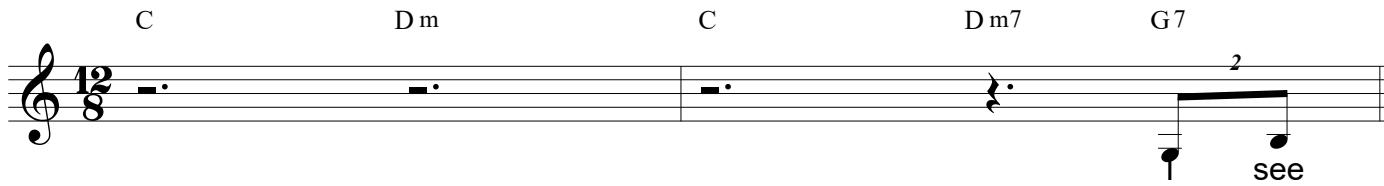

Here is Louie Armstrong's "What A Wonderful World."

Our next song won an Oscar for Best Original Song in 1969. It was the featured song in a movie about a couple of notorious cowpokes - Butch Cassidy and Sundance Kid. B.J. Thomas had the original recording, but others who have covered the song include Bobbie Gentry, Peggy Lee, Dean Martin, and Perry Como.

Here's _____ to sing this great song about a person who has a problem. She says, "Raindrops Keep Falling On My Head."

We're rapidly approaching the end of our time with you today/tonight.

For our next to last song, we'd like you to remember a great rock and roll song recorded by the Four Seasons back in 1963. I'll ask _____ to join me in telling you about some important advice my father gave me a long time ago. He said, "Son, you just gotta 'Walk Like A Man.'"

For our final song in tribute to Peter, Paul, and Mary, we'll jump back to the year 1962. You'll remember that this period in America was a time when protest songs were quite popular. And this song by the trio quickly found its way to the top of the charts.

Here's that great Peter, Paul, and Mary hit that poses a number of questions about peace, war, and freedom - "Blowin' In The Wind."

Now, our next song was written back in 1955 and is thought to be the most recorded song of the 20th century. By some counts, over 500 versions have been recorded throughout the world in hundreds of different languages. The one we probably all remember was recorded by an artist whose name was Al Hibler. Al had sung for years with Duke Ellington's band, but this was the song that really brought him fame. Anyone care to guess the name of this next song? Right - Unchained Melody.

For this third great hit by Dionne Warwick, we'll again turn to the compositional wizardry of Burt Bacharach. This song conveys a woman's concern for her man who's serving in the Vietnam War. This song was released in 1967 and became a million-selling hit, reaching the #4 spot on the Billboard Top 100. Aretha Franklin also produced a notable recording.

Thank you. Thank you very much. Now it's time to highlight a great artist from yesteryear. Our featured artist this evening was born in 1935 in Great Britain. She made her Broadway debut in 1954 at the age of 19 and was the leading lady in a ton of musicals, including My Fair Lady, Camelot, Mary Poppins, and my all-time favorite - The Sound Of Music. Who is she? You got it - Julie Andrews.

We're going to play 3 of her greatest hits. Remember a couple of songs back when we talked about 5 syllable words in the song. Well, this first song has 14 syllables in its title and 34 letters in its name. Julie sang it in the film "Mary Poppins." Anyone have a guess? Right. Supercalifragilisticexpialidocious, which simply means "fantastic."

Here's _____ to give us a simply fantastic version of the song.

Our next song debuted on Billboard's Hot 100 on August 7, 1961, and remained for twelve weeks, peaking at #7. It was written by Barry Mann and Gerry Goffin. It's a doo-wap song about how doo-wap songs made the song writer's girl fall in love with him. Wow. If were only that easy!

I'll bet you dollars to doughnuts you haven't heard this one for a long, long, time. Get it? – Dough-NUTS?

Good evening. We're so very glad to be back with you again. It's always a fun time for us when we come to play for you here.

Once again tonight, we're going take you down memory lane and revisit some of the biggest hit songs from yesteryear. Our opening number was "Get Happy," written back in 1930 by Harold Arlen and recorded by Judy Garland, Frank Sinatra, and many others.

Our next selection is a waltz, and it was written more recently, in 1965, by Burt Bacharach. It was featured in may films - My Best Friend's Wedding, Happy Gilmore, Forrest Gump and many others.
