

Thank you. Now all of you be real good, ya hear!

Our next selection is a bit slower, but it has a simlar theme. It was recorded by a whole host of country singers, but the most famous of all the recordings is the one by "The King," Elvis Presley. The song tells the story of a person who is contemplating celebrating Christmas without the one he loves. So, it's not going to be a white Christmas for him. Anyone care to guess the name of the song?

Right! Here we go with our version of "Blue Christmas."
