see I love you, please don't break my heart in two. That's not hard to do, 'cause I don't have a wood-en heart. And if you say good-bye, then I know that I would

The musical score consists of eight staves of music, each with a treble clef and a key signature of one flat. The first four staves represent the vocal line, while the remaining four staves represent different instruments: Keyboard, Saxophone, and two other unnamed parts. The lyrics are integrated into the vocal line, with some words appearing above the staff and others below. Chords are indicated above the staff at various points. The score is numbered 54 at the top, and the vocal line continues from page 2.
