Good evening. We're so very glad to be back with you again. It's always a fun time for us when we come to play for you here.

Once again tonight, we're going take you down memory lane and revisit some of the biggest hit songs from yesteryear. Our opening number was "It Don't Mean A Thing If It Ain't Got That Swing." It's kinda like a theme song for our ensemble. It was written back in 1931 by that great jazz orchestra leader, Duke Ellington. How many of you remember the Duke?

Our next selection was written way back in 1914 and was featured in the first stage musical ever written by Irving Berlin. It was then featured in the movie "There's No Business Like Show Business" which starred Ethel Merman. Remember Ethel? Later, Bing Crosby and his son, Gary, made a famous recording of it.

We'll treat you to our duet, as we ask "Won't You Play A Simple Melody?"

Staff 3 (Male vocal) joins in at the beginning of the second line with "Won't you play a sim- ple mel-o-". Staff 4 (Female vocal) continues the lyrics in the second line with "Just change that class-i-cal nag to some sweet beau-ti-ful drag.". Staff 5 (Male vocal) joins in with "dy, like my moth-er sang to me?". Staff 6 (Female vocal) continues with "If you will play from a cop-y of a tune that is chop-py you'll get One with good old fash-ioned". Staff 7 (Male vocal) joins in with "all my ap- plause and that is sim- ply be- cause". Staff 8 (Female vocal) concludes with "har- mo- ny. Play a". Chords indicated above the staff include D♭, F7, G♭, E♭7, B°, A♭7, A°7, and D7.

Our next selection has a Latin beat and was written back in 1936 for a musical starring Eleanor Powell. Does anyone remember Eleanor?

Later, it was recorded by Frank Sinatra, Ella Fitzgerald, and many other artists. Here We go with "I've Got You Under My Skin."

Now we're gonna really move backward in time. Our next song was the first major hit by a composer by the name of Irving Berlin. Do you remember Mr. Berlin? He wrote about a gazillion songs in his lifetime.

This selection was recorded by dozens of musical artists, including Al Jolson, the Andrews Sisters, Louie Armstrong, Bing Crosby, Ella Fitzgerald, Liberace, and Julie Andrews. Here we go with the story of a famous band down south called "Alexander's Ragtime Band."

Now, We'll jump forward in time to 1940 and play a song written by Jimmy Van Heusen and Johnny Burke. It was first recorded by a couple of pretty good dance bands in the 1940s - the Glenn Miller Orchestra and the Tommy Dorsey Orchestra. By the way, both of these band leaders played the same kind of instrument. What was it? Right - the trombone.

OK. Here We go with our Version of "Imagination"

Now, we'll really switch gears for our next selection. It has special meaning for me, because it comes from my homeland. My great grandfather came to America from the country of Bohemia back in the middle of the 19th century and settled in Nebraska. Bohemia later became Czechoslovakia, so I am Czech. (Tell Czech joke).

Does anyone know what the national dance of the Czech Republic is? Right, the polka. So, we're going to play a polka now. This one features the sound of a clock. It's called the "Tick Tock Polka."

Each time we play for you, we like to showcase a noted artist of yesteryear. This time, we're going to highlight some songs by a very famous Jazz trumpet player and singer born on August 4, 1901, in the great city of New Orleans. Who would that be? Right - Louis Daniel Armstrong, otherwise known as "Louie."

Louie died of a heart attack on July 6, 1971. During the 70 years of his life on earth, he became one of the most influential jazz musicians in history.

We're going to play three of his selections this evening. The first was recorded by Louie in 1968, just shortly before his death. The lyrics of the song present a hopeful, optimistic tone with regard to the future, talking about green trees, red roses, blue skies, white clouds, rainbows, and babies being born with a great future ahead of them.

Here is Louie Armstrong's "What A Wonderful World."

Thank you very much. For our final song by King Louie, we'd like to take you forward in time to 1964 when Louie Armstrong recorded the biggest hit of his illustrious career. The song went to #1 on the pop charts, making him the oldest artist in the US to achieve that honor

The song was in a famous Broadway musical of the same name starring Carol Channing. Do you remember Carol? Does anyone have a guess as what we're going to play for you now? Right - "Hello Dolly."

We're going to move way forward in time now, to the year 1966, when a new musical by Jerry Herman opened on Broadway based on a novel entitled "Auntie Mame." It was recorded by a number of artists, including Louie Armstrong and Bobby Darin, and the Broadway musical featured such stars as Ginger Rogers, Angela Lansbury, and Lucille Ball.

Here's the song about a lady who brought joy to many people - "Mame."

OK, now here's a test for you. Back in 1957, a man by the name of Meredith Wilson wrote a musical about a band instrument salesman in River City, Iowa. What was the name of the musical? Right - The Music Man.

One of the songs in that musical was recorded by the Beatles in 1963. It was the only Broadway show tune that the Beatles ever recorded.

We'll play for you now. It's title is "Till There Was You."
